Portfolios in the Language Classroom

In this NYSAFLT webinar, the presenter, Ashley Uyaguari, explored how to create portfolios to document student growth in oral proficiency from Novice through Intermediate and beyond. She highlighted how to create prompts over a wide range of topics that elicit the correct level with open-ended questions. She looked at student self-assessment practices, including assignments for students to reflect on their proficiency and growth through evidence in their portfolios. These self-assessments help students take ownership of their acquisition journey and empower them to continue as they see how they have grown.
