

Miranda Ferrante

Promoting World Language - Contest

It is very important for schools to offer world language programs and for students to take them. You'll never know how much you'll learn until you try it. Taking Italian taught me so much. I am able to communicate with my cousins from Rome and learn so much about my heritage. Studying world languages can help you learn so much about different cultures. Such as, holidays celebrated and important traditions. I think it is a great thing that many schools offer world language programs. Not only can you learn another language but connect with a culture that is truly amazing. I've learned many things about my friends that I did not know before from taking a world language. I hope one day my children could take a world language and learn so much while having a good time. Some schools do not have world